Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 1, 16, and 31 are allowed.
3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

As per Claims 1, 16, and 31.

The present invention is directed to a method for rapid valuation of asset portfolios. Each independent claim identifies the uniquely distinct features "a that includes valuating assets in a portfolio individually by segmenting the portfolio of assets into three valuation portions; fully underwriting each asset included within a first portion of the asset portfolio for computing a value for each asset included within the first portion of the asset portfolio including underwriting in a full cash manner to generate a value table, and underwriting in a partial cash manner to generate a partial value table,." The closest prior art, Pang, Freeman, Graff, or Glasserman disclose a computer system for supporting the securitization of property by its decomposition into at least two components. For example, one component can be an estate for years component and a second component can be a remainder interest. The Graff computer system computes the respective values of the components, either singularly or in combination, fail to anticipate or render the above underlined limitations obvious.

The claims which depend from the above allowed claims are allowed based on their dependencies.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
